

Levi G. Meeske, CPP

2022 Payroll Man Of The Year

In September 2001, Levi Meeske was hired into the world of payroll. Equipped with a Bachelors of Science in Mathematics & Computer Science from Midland Lutheran College in Fremont, Nebraska and a desire to learn, he was now being asked paycheck questions that he had previously inquired about himself. However, now he needed to be able to intelligently and accurately respond with answers. In time, he joined that APA Atlanta Chapter where he has held offices of President, Government Liaison Office, chair of the Georgia Statewide conference, and has taught multiple years at the CPP/FPC Study Groups after receiving his CPP in 2007.

Moving up through the ranks of payroll from clerk to administrator to supervisor to manager, Levi has worked in varying industries such as manufacturing, hospitality, healthcare and financial industries. Also, he works on increasing and bringing compliance, process efficiency, technology utilization and documentation up to standards.

Finally, Levi is also part of the APA's National Speaker's Bureau, and the CPP Certification Board. He has also been a part of PAYTECH's Board of Contributing Writers, and past regional Board of Advisors. Other committees have included the Emerging Technologies Subcommittee & Best Practices of the Strategic Payroll Leadership Task Force (SPLTF), the MyRA Subcommittee of the Government Relations Task Force (GRTF) the Social Networking Committee, and the Hotline Referral Service. He has also taught PayTrain Mastery at Kennesaw State University in Georgia. Personally, he enjoys puzzles, coin collecting, cruising the Caribbean on vacations, hiking, swimming and infusing the world with a positive bit regularly #LevisLines.
